And as, according to the laſt Article of the afore-mentioned Reſolutions (ſubſcribed by the ſaid Violators) it was agreed, that every ſuch Violator ſhould be treated with the utmoſt Contempt: So the General Committee preſume, that the above Publication of Names, will be alone ſufficient to excite the ſame; and to caution all Perſons whatever, who have ſubſcribed the ſaid Reſolutions, againſt having any commercial Dealings whatever with the ſaid ANN & BENJAMIN MATHEWES, until public Notice ſhall be given of their Compliance with the reaſonable Terms that have been propoſed to them—'till when their Actions muſt declare them to be obſtinate and inveterate Enemies to their Country, and unworthy of the leaſt Confidence or Eſteem.

From the LONDON GAZETTE, APRIL 17.

ST. JAMES's, APRIL 16.

THE King has been pleaſed to appoint Soame Jenyns, Edward Eliot, John Roberts, William Fitzherbert, Robert Spencer, (commonly called Lord Robert Spencer) George Greville, (commonly called Lord Greville) and William Northey, Eſquires, to be commiſſioners for trade and plantations.

LONDON, APRIL 17.

Mr. Trecothick repreſented to the houſe of commons on Monday laſt, that the exports to America in 1768, had exceeded thoſe in 1769 upwards of 700,000l. He alſo ventured to aſſert, that unleſs the duties upon tea were repealed, the exports of this year would fall conſiderably ſhort of thoſe of the laſt year. It likewiſe appeared, that out of twelve ſhips lately in the port of London, and bound to New-York, only three ſailed; and that the whole amount of the three cargoes did not exceed 10,000l. that the ſeven other ſhips were now ſailing with the bed of the river Thames for their cargoes, being laden with ballaſt only.

Mr. Trecothick ſtated ſuch alarming facts to the ſame houſe on Monday laſt reſpecting America, that it is hoped they will have their proper weight with adminiſtration, and induce them to move for an immediate repeal of the duties upon tea, and not ſuffer the eſſential intereſts of this country to be ruined in ſupporting an unmeaning punctillio, which will produce nothing, and be an eternal ſtumbling block to a reconciliation with the colonies.

Mr. Trecothick appeared to be a perfect maſter of the trade to America, and aſſured the houſe, that if the differences which unhappily ſubſiſted between the mother country, and the colonies had been amicably ſettled, the cargoes of theſe ten ſhips would have amounted to at leaſt 300,000l. Thus are ſubſtantial benefits loſt to this country, merely to retain a paultry preamble to an act of parliament, the act itſelf being repealed. Wiſe miniſters indeed!

The Lord Mayor obſerved on Monday laſt in the houſe of commons, upon Mr. Trecothick's motion, that if the houſe were of opinion, that it could not, conſiſtent with their rules and orders, be then admitted, that he hoped Lord North would allow of a prorogation of the parliament till after the holidays, that the matter might then be taken into conſideration. To which Lord North ſneeringly anſwered, he was very glad to find that a prorogation would content the Hon. gentleman.

We hear that ſeveral clubs which have elected Mr. Wilkes one of their members, have all made contributions for the total diſcharge of that gentleman's debts.

We are credibly informed that the parliament will continue ſitting till the middle of next month, as ſeveral affairs of importance are to be taken into conſideration before their prorogation.

The Lord Mayor has had a counſel's opinion both in regard to the reſolutions of the goldſmiths, grocers, and weavers companies, and his own conduct, in conſequence of ſuch reſolutions.

It is confidently whiſpered, that a certain famous, but unfortunate foreign General, is heartily ſorry for not attaching himſelf to the popular party, on his arrival in this kingdom, as he now (but alas! too late) finds himſelf made a dupe of by the deluſive promiſes that were made him by certain great men in power.

It is ſaid that a certain great lady has remitted a ſum of money towards defraying the remainder of Mr. Wilkes's debts.

The laſt letters from Venice mention, the Earl of Bute being there greatly recovered, and was preparing to ſet out for Bareges, to drink the waters.

We hear that William Woodley, Eſq; Captain General of the Leeward Iſlands, will ſoon return to England.

Ralph Payne, Eſq; member for Shafteſbury, it is ſaid will be appointed to ſucceed Mr. Woodley.

Miſs Hunter, daughter and ſole heireſs of the late Thomas Orby Hunter, Eſq; is married to Captain Clarke, who now enjoys the whole of the late Mr. Hunter's great eſtate, at Crowland in Lincolnſhire.

APRIL 18.

A letter, written in the moſt reſpectful and dutiful terms, was ſent on Friday laſt to a Great Perſonage, which related ſolely to John Wilkes, Eſq;

It is ſettled, that Lord Eſſex ſhall ſucceed Lord Galway, as maſter of the ſtag hounds.

We hear that Sir Walter Blacket, Bart. member for Newcaſtle upon Tyne, will ſhortly be created a Peer of Ireland.

We are informed that Commodore Byron will ſet out for his government of Newfoundland the 18th of next month, with the men of war which are to compoſe his ſquadron.

APRIL 19.

The different and erroneous reports in many of the papers of the time of Mr. Wilkes's releaſment, has induced us to give the following account, which may be depended on. About three o'clock on tueſday afternoon, an extraordinary meſſage was ſent to Mr. Thomas, the Marſhal of the King's-Bench priſon, reſpecting the releaſment of Mr. Wilkes; upon which Mr. Thomas went immediately to Mr. Wilkes's apartment, and told him the orders of his releaſment, altho' his time was not out till midnight. Mr. Wilkes thereupon immediately prepared to ſet out in a poſt-coach and four, which had brought his daughter, who was attended for that purpoſe by Mr. Trevanion and Mr. Churchill, and in company with theſe, he left the priſon at 25 minutes after five, and went to Bromley in Kent.

The cities of London and Weſtminſter, and the borough of Southwark, were illuminated in a brilliant manner laſt night, on account of Mr. Alderman Wilkes's enlargement. There were no mobs nor diſturbances. The illuminations were general, and in many places very curious and beautiful devices were formed. The whole was the voluntary act of the people, without any kind of compulſion. Lord Mansfield from hence may take warning, that the people do not approve of ſuch ſentences, for what are only political crimes.

At ſeveral houſes in the Borough laſt night, blue candles were burnt, and blue pipes uſed, in honour of the patriot.

A tradeſman in the Strand, laſt night, beſides finely illuminating his houſe, put up a tranſparent painting of Mr. Wilkes, with ſuitable emblematical figures, repreſenting truth, liberty, and juſtice.

Some of the King's tradeſmen, who are Engliſhmen (for the moſt of the King's tradeſmen are Scotchmen) were among the firſt who illuminated their houſes laſt night. But the Scotch, in general, put out no lights; ſeveral of them giving for a reaſon. They would not affront the Princeſs Dowager o' Wales. ——An open enemy is better than a falſe friend.

Laſt night Mr. Forſter, linen-draper in Cheapſide, having refuſed to illuminate his houſe, and taken out the window-ſaſhes to prevent their being broke, and alſo put up boards in their ſtead to keep any thing from being thrown into his houſe, the populace broke the ſhutters of his ſhop, and ſome panes of glaſs over his door, and would have demoliſhed his houſe, had not he at laſt conſented to put up candles.

Several private men in the firſt and ſecond regiments of foot guards were obſerved in different parts of London on Tueſday night with blue cockades in their hats.

Laſt night all the ſervants of a great perſonage were ordered to keep within doors.

The illuminations laſt night were almoſt general, before there was the leaſt appearance of any mob in the ſtreets.

The quiet and orderly behaviour of the populace laſt night is attributed partly to the injunction of the Lord Mayor in his late ſpeech at Guildhall, and partly to the pains taken by Mr. Wilkes's friends to preſerve the peace.

A few days ago a difference broke out between Lord North and the Bloomſbury Gang, concerning who ſhould be appointed treaſurer of the chamber. The Bloomſbury Gang were for the Hon. H. F. Thynne, (Lord Weymouth's brother) but Lord North, being ſupported by the invincible power of Carlton houſe, had his own man (Mr. Rice) appointed; and now he boaſts mightily of his victory over the intereſt of the Duke of Bedford. The moſt implicit ſlave of Mazarine was never more obſequious to the Queen-mother of France than Lord North, at this moment, is to the alluring influence of Carlton-Houſe.

A commiſſion is preparing to paſs the great ſeal for appointing a new board of the Lords of trade and plantations.

Yeſterday the committee of the Supporters of the Bill of Rights ſettled all Mr. Wilkes's debts.

Yeſterday morning Earl Temple returned from Mr. Reynolds's country ſeat, where he went the preceding evening to meet Mr. Wilkes.

It is conjectured Mr. Wilkes's taking his ſeat in the Court of Aldermen will be procraſtinated, by there not being Aldermen enough preſent, when he demands it, to form a court.

Yeſterday oppoſite the King's Arms, in Breniford, a platform was erected in the middle of the road, when a very luſty chimney-ſweeper being come, he was hoiſted by tackle provided for that purpoſe into a ſuperb chair, and being ſeated, was afterwards attended by 44 more of the ſame profeſſion, each of whom was alſo attended by one of their boys, all dreſſed in the proper inſignia of their office, and being likewiſe ſeated, a curtain was drawn, when a buttock of beef, on which was ſtuck a flag, with Mr. Wilkes's head painted thereon, and a ham, with a flag likewiſe on it, on which was painted the number 45, each weighing 45lb. was diſcovered: On the ſide of each was placed a loaf weighing 45 ounces; and likewiſe a pot of porter: After the neceſſary forms of ſaying grace, &c. was gone through, the preſident proceeded to the diſtribution of the meat, which he did in equal portions by compaſſes; that being done, they began to eat, and when they had occaſion for bread, &c. it was handed to them by the boys attending, who afterwards feaſted very ſumptuouſly on what their maſters had left; on the whole, there never was remembered a more laughable ſcene.

Tueſday the ringers of St. Bride's, St. Dunſtan's, St. Andrew's, and St. Sepulchre's, had each one guinea ſent to them, for ringing the bells in thoſe churches, on account of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement.

After Mr. Wilkes left the King's Bench on Tueſday evening, all the priſoners went into his apartment, and numbers of them thought the ſecuring to themſelves an old pen, or ſome ſuch trifle, once in poſſeſſion of the great patriot, the moſt valuable acquiſition the priſon could afford.

It is ſaid the Lord Mayor has given Mr. Wilkes an invitation to ſpend ſome weeks this ſummer at Fonthill.

It is rumoured that a late patriotic priſoner will ſoon open his Budget, to the aſtoniſhment of Engliſhmen, as containing matters of the moſt alarming nature, which that gentleman did not think proper to publiſh during his confinement.

The marſhal of the King's Bench has had ſeveral applications already for Mr. Wilkes's apartments, but, "from principles of friendſhip for his late patriotic priſoner," he has declared he will keep them diſengaged for a few days, as he expects a ſecond viſit from him very ſhortly.

By-ſtanders expect to ſee the city ſoon ſo involved in civil diſputes among themſelves, with reſpect to their rights, privileges, and immunities, as will entirely divert their attention from matters of ſtate. The lawyers, it is ſaid, already obſerve theſe baneful conteſts with a ſatisfactory ſmile.

The proteſt againſt a certain remonſtrance, is not intended, it is ſaid, to be preſented, as a great perſonage has declared his intention not to take any notice of ſuch remonſtrance.

Some letters from Italy by the laſt Holland mail ſay, that the national regiments which been formed in Corſica, inſtead of garriſoning the reſpective places to which they were appointed, had all deſerted on their march, and carried off their arms with them.

We are told by letters from Leghorn, that a Corſican chief, at the head of a conſiderable body of men, remains ſtill unconquered amongſt the mountains, where he has baffled all the efforts made againſt him by the French troops, with very little loſs to his own party.

We are aſſured the report that camps were to be formed round the town took its riſe merely from its being intended to encamp the matroſſes, as uſual, on Blackheath, for a day or two, previous to a grand review.

On Tueſday Mr. Wildman's Eclipſe beat Mr. Wentworth's Bucephalus, over the Beacon courſe at Newmarket, 600 guineas to 400. They are again matched, the former 1200 guineas to 800, to run three weeks hence at the next meeting. Eclipſe has not been ſold, as has been mentioned.

APRIL 21.

Yeſterday Lord Camden had a conference with his Majeſty at the Queen's palace; after which he viſited the Earl of Chatham in Pall-Mall, where he ſtayed two hours.

The freeholders of Middleſex, it is ſaid, are to aſſemble in Hyde-Park, to accompany John Wilkes, Eſq; to the Houſe of Commons, ſoon after their next meeting, when he intends to go and demand his ſeat as knight of the ſhire for that county. And ſo great is the ſpirit of the people to carry this great point, that it is expected a conſiderable majority of the freeholders will go on this occaſion in proceſſion.

A donation of fifty pounds was paid on Tueſday laſt from Kingſton in Surry, to the ſociety for the Bill of Rights.

Since Mr. Wilkes's releaſment, he has received invitations from all the ſocieties of which he is a member, to viſit them, and we hear that he intends, complying with their requeſts as ſoon as poſſible.

It is ſaid that a certain nobleman, accompanied by Mr. Wilkes, will make an excurſion through England this ſummer.

On Wednesday laſt the Earl of Chatham entertained Earl Temple, Lord Camden, John Wilkes, Eſq; John Calcraft, Eſq; John Trevanion, Eſq; and Mr. Reynolds, (Mr. Wilkes's attorney) at dinner, at Hayes, in Kent.

On Tueſday next a Court of Aldermen is ſummoned ſpecially, by a particular precept from the Lord Mayor, for the purpoſe of ſwearing Mr. Wilkes in Alderman of the Ward of Farringdon Without. Some perſons affect to doubt whether the Aldermen will attend ſo as to make a Court. If they ſhould not, it is ſaid, that the Lord Mayor will call a Court of Common-Council, on Thurſday next, and ſwear him in before them, and that an order will be made to ſwear in all the Aldermen for the future before the Common-Council.

A correſpondent ſays, he is informed that a ſcheme is laid, to provoke and entrap a great patriotic magiſtrate, on an approaching public occaſion.

A female great perſonage is, at preſent, it is ſaid, worth no leſs a ſum than three millions ſterling, which ſhe keeps principally in foreign funds. So great a ſpecies of prudence and oeconomy (though the want of it has been ſo loudly complained of) is not to be paralleled; particularly when we conſider her revenue is but fifty thouſand per annum, that ſhe is only in the receipt of that nineteen years, and that ſhe has paid off a number of old debts.

We are aſſured that a certain perſon, who lately diſſented on a public occaſion, is not ſo entirely deprived of his ſenſes as not to know where his intereſt lies, he having a ſhort time ſince wrote a poem called, The character of a modern patriot, a ſatire, which he inſcribed to the Duke of Grafton and Lord North, and delivered to them in the lobby of the houſe of commons, and, we hear, has ſince received a gratuity for the ſame.

It is ſaid that the Minority have drawn up the heads of a bill, as an addition to the place bill, that no perſon who holds a place under the government, in any ſhape or manner, either by himſelf or another, ſhall be capable of voting for a member of parliament; and that all dignified clergymen (ſuch as deans, canons, prebends, &c. &c.) will be included therein.

We are well informed that the reaſon of Mr. Wilkes's releaſement before the expiration of his time, was in conſequence of a card wrote by that gentleman a few days ſince to the higher powers, ſignifying his inclination (for the ſake of peace and good order) to remain any number of hours longer than his ſentence, that might be judged proper. To which he received for anſwer, as a compliment to his condeſcenſion, that he had liberty to leave his confinement any time in the day preceeding the expiration of his term that he might approve of.

Laſt week General H----y ſent a letter to the Marſhal of the King's Bench Priſon, acquainting him he had 700 men under his command, and was ready to march to his aſſiſtance at the ſhorteſt notice. But the Marſhal not having been reimburſed by government the 400l. the ſoldiers coſt him in May 1768, he was glad to be excuſed accepting the General's kind and humane offer.

Great rejoicings were made at Swaffham in Norfolk on Wedneſday laſt, on account of Mr. Wilkes's releaſement; a flag of liberty was diſplayed, 45 cannon fired, and in the evening a jack-boot, filled with combuſtibles, after being ſuſpended for ſome time upon a gibbet, was blown up, amidſt the univerſal acclamations of the populace.

From Briſtol we learn that there were public rejoicings there the day of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement, and in the evening public illuminations.

On Wedneſday there were the greateſt rejoicings ever known in moſt parts of Yorkſhire, on account of Mr. Wilkes's releaſment.

It is confidently aſſerted, that a very great perſonage viewed the illuminations on Wedneſday incog. and that he ſeemed affected in the moſt ſenſible manner by ſo general and uncompelled a declaration of the people, in oppoſition to the meaſures of the cabinet.

On Thurſday a match was run over the Beacon Courſe at New-Market, between the famous Gimcrack, and the Marquis of Rockingham's Pilgrim, which was won eaſy by the former.

The ſame day Mr. Wildman's Eclipſe, won the King's plate, beating two others.

We hear that a certain nobleman loſt at New-market, on one match, upwards of 10,000l.

At a quarter paſt eight this morning died, at his houſe in Upper-Groſvenor-ſtreet, the Right Hon. Samuel Sandys, Lord Sandys. He is ſucceeded in his title and eſtate by his eldeſt ſon, the Hon. Edwin Sandys, member in the preſent parliament for the city and liberty of Weſtminſter, now Lord Sandys, by which there is a vacancy for that city and liberty.

As ſoon as it was certainly known, that Lord Sandys was dead, the electors of Weſtminſter immediately caſt their eyes upon Sir Robert Barnard, Bart. as the moſt proper perſon to repreſent them in parliament; and ſeveral of them immediately waited upon Sir Robert and acquainted him of their intentions to ſupport him in a moſt ſpirited and vigorous manner, as the beſt return they could make for his having ſo generouſly ſtood forward in the cauſe of public liberty.

Extract of a letter from Liſbon, April 2.

"Since the diſgrace of the prime miniſter, trade ſeems to have taken a favourable turn here, with reſpect to the Engliſh merchants.

"We have had very bad weather for the vineyards; and it is believed, wines in general will be exceſſive dear, eſpecially Port."

Extract of a letter from Portſmouth, April 19.

"Yeſterday being the day of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement, a duel was fought on the occaſion, near the Three Rope Walk, Portſmouth Common, between a ſoldier belonging to the 41ſt regiment (doing duty in the garriſon) and a gentleman, ſuppoſed to belong to the navy, dreſſed in black, with a cockade in his hat; who, on ſeeing a boot hung up by the boys, at the quay gate, as he was coming from the Common to Portſmouth, cried out Wilkes for ever! the ſoldier, on his ſide, crying out, King George; ſome altercation enſued, whereupon they both went together to the place aforeſaid, and after a ſtout engagement (both parties being obſtinate) the gentleman was wounded."

GOSPORT, APRIL 20.

On Wedneſday the illumination and rejoicing was pretty general in this town (the naval officers, and other officers in the ſervice of the government excepted) but the trading and independant part of the town teſtified their joy, with great decency and decorum.

SALISBURY, APRIL 23.

There were great rejoicings at Devizes on Wedneſday laſt, on account of the releaſment of Mr. Wilkes, and at the village of Wiſhford, near this city, ſeveral hogſheads of cyder and ſtrong beer were given away, the bells rang, and other demonſtrations of joy were exhibited.

They write from Caſtle-Cary in Somerſetſhire, that on the day of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement, the morning was uſhered in with ringing of bells; a flag of liberty was diſplayed on the tower, and many hogſheads of ſtrong-beer and cyder given away to the populace: in the evening their windows were illuminated, and every demonſtration of joy appeared on the occaſion. Such, adds our correſpondent, is the ſpirit of freedom in that part of the kingdom, even every little village did ſomething in honour of the patriot.

SHERBORNE, APRIL 23.

A correſpondent from Falmouth informs us, that on the day of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement was given in that town, a piece of beef weighing 45 lb. by 45 gentlemen to 45 boys, to be eaten openly in the bowling-green there, together with 45 penny loaves, and 45 pints of beer to be drank with it; and the boy who eat his firſt part, was entitled to 45 ſhillings, and the boy who eat his laſt, was obliged to carry a huge boot 45 times round the bowling-green, with a fine plaid petticoat, ornamented with ribbons, faſtened to the top of it; which was afterwards carried to the gallows erected for that purpoſe 45 feet high, and was burnt with 45 tar-barrels and 45 faggots of furze. The evening concluded with each gentleman's drinking his bowl of punch, and ſmoaking 45 pipes of tobacco. The houſes were all illuminated, and a large bonfire, with another huge boot weighing 45 lb. was burnt at a place in the other part of the town; with many other demonſtrations of joy on the delivery of Mr. Wilkes.

On the day of Mr. Wilkes's enlargement there were the greateſt rejoicings at Barnſtaple, in Devonſhire, ever known there. Every houſe in town was illuminated, except four, which belonged to penſioners. There was a large bonfire, and a boot and petticoat burnt in it amidſt the acclamations of thouſands. The bells rang merrily the whole day, and part of the next.

ANECDOTE of the Duke of MANCHESTER.

HIS Grace's fortune not being ſufficient to ſupport the dignity of a dukedom, his Majeſty out of his royal favour, and as it is commonly expreſſed, out of his privy purſe, allowed his Grace 2500l. a year; it was received with gratitude until the beginning of the preſent ſeſſion of parliament, when Lord North by deſire of the Duke of Grafton ordered the Duke of Manchester, to attend in the Houſe of Peers, and to vote on that ſide of the queſtion which was contrary to his known ſentiments.—His grace refuſed,—he voted in the minority, the royal bounty was immediately withdrawn; and ſuch were the pernicious effects of the repreſentation made of this tranſaction, that a great perſonage has been often ſince heard to mention the ingratitude of the Duke of Manchester. But his Grace, rather than ſubmit to ſuch a proſtitution of his honour and principles, has glorioufly withdrawn himſelf from Court, quitted a reſidence ſuitable to his rank, diſmiſſed the greateſt part of his retinue, and lives like an honeſt independant nobleman.

CHARLES-TOWN, JUNE 21.

THE Brigt. Hester, Robert Johnston, Master, from Georgia, bound to Kirkcudbright in Scotland, which put in here the 6th ult. and sailed again the 18th, on the 30th put in again, at Philadelphia.

The Scooner Defiance, Captain Mulford, from Cape-Fear, which arrived here last Saturday, suffered in the Gale betwixt the 6th and 7th Instant.

Last Sunday Mr. Charles Johnson, Merchant, was married to Miss Polly Mackenzie, only Daughter of Mr. Robert Mackenzie.

The same Night died, in the 70th Year of his Age, universally regretted, Jacob Motte, Esq; many Years Public Treasurer of this Province.

Henry Peronneau, Esq; who was Assistant Treasurer, is appointed to succeed Mr. Motte, as Public Treasurer, till the Meeting of the General Assembly.

Last Saturday put back to this Port, the Scooner Dolphin, David Walker, Master, which sailed for Jamaica the 28th of April last, having on the 20th of May lost her Main-Mast, and suffered a great deal of Damage since, in the Gale between the 6th and 7th Instant.

On Saturday last died, at Dorchester, Dr. James Dick.

Last Monday Morning an Effigy was exhibited, standing in a Pillory, between Messrs. Dillon's & Gray's Tavern, and Mr. Tunno's Store, in Broad-Street, representing a Violator of the Resolutions of this Province—as the Writing about it expressed; which also menaced with the same Treatment, or Carting, Tarring, and Feathering, every Person who should presume to deal with such Violator. At 10 o'Clock, a venerable old Gentleman, cloathed with Authority, had it taken down, without the least Opposition, and secured in the Guard-House: But, in the Evening, it made its Appearance again, was carted through all the principal Streets of the Town, attended by a prodigious Concourse of People, and afterwards burnt upon the Green.—Moderate People appeared, in general, very much concerned at this Exhibition, on Account of some particular Circumstances, and would have prevented it if possible; but the Majority not admitting any Reasons to be sufficient, to justify or palliate any Deviation whatever from our Resolutions (by which we must now stand or fall) it appears, that there is no Safety in breaking them.

We are assured, that the true TEA SHRUB has been discovered to grow in great Abundance in this Province; but the proper Method of curing it has not yet been found out.

Letters from London, dated the 24th of April, say, that "the Ministry rely very much upon the Assurances which have "been given them by some People on this Continent, that the "Americans cannot hold out till the Winter, without breaking "through the Non-Importation Agreement:" But it is very easy to convince them of the Contrary.

This Day (not before) Mr. Samuel Hopkins, Baker, was married to Mrs. Frances Dandridge, Widow of Mr. William Dandridge.
